New York State Department of Education Update

- August 9, 2023 memo from SED and the NYS Attorney General
- Reaffirms a school district's legal responsibility to "...place dignity, inclusion, and respect at the center of their educational decisions."
- Key Points:
 - District's are to pay special attention to two state policies:
 - Dignity for All Students Act ("Dignity Act") and the Board of Regents' Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) policy.
 - Ensure teaching and learning reflect principles of diversity, equity, and inclusion and provide opportunities for all students to make educational progress
 - "Accordingly, school districts cannot respond to local electorates or stakeholders by banning curricular materials that accurately portray and critically analyze topics related to protected classes such as race, national origin, gender (including gender identity and expression), or sexual orientation."
 - District's must address disciplinary practices that lead to disproportional outcomes. A focus on restorative practices, not punitive measures, must be at the center of this work.
 - Ensure effective policies and procedures to prevent and address bullying and harassment in schools.
